

Chemistry All chemical workings of the body including hormones and neurotransmitters, life energy electric	Intelligence processing centers All areas of the body able to inform, document and receive as well as log store information	Sensory input/Out flow 8 senses sight touch smell
Memory Memory of all types in skin cells brain nerves	DNA deoxyribonucleic acid, a self-replicating material which is present in nearly all living organisms as the main constituent of chromosomes. It is the carrier of genetic information	Systems Operations Much of this is directed from the DNA in the master and stem cells each system is different
Physical Force A combination of chemicals and muscle creating a powerful supernatural force combined with highself	Light of cell The light of cell is much like the spirit of cell is able to mirror and transform	