

Father, Son and Holy Spirit, we deeply, profoundly, lovingly ask for your face to be turned towards us.

As we breathe in, as we close our eyes, as we bring our hands together in prayer, we seek to know you. We seek to hear your voice, feel your presence. We seek to have wisdom, knowledge, and awareness that only can come from you.

We thank you, God, for showing us what is evil in the world and what needs defeating and incinerating.

We thank you, God, for the assignments of restoring, rebuilding, revitalizing, rejuvenating.

In this day where we are clearing all the energetic, spiritual causes of pain in any form, we seek to do your will. And we surrender and give up the pain that has maybe driven us, that we've used to make ourselves better.

We surrender and give up the pain that is our identity in any way that we might be attached to or holding on to any portion of the pain because we're used to it, because we accommodate it, because we have behaviors that we use to deal with it. And so it's a familiar pattern that we're used to. And so it becomes pain, becomes an embedded unwelcome guest, but it is a guest in our body.

We surrender all of that to you.

We are willing, completely willing, to release any emotional ties to this pain or emotional sources of the pain. Any way that someone has hurt us and that's become some kind of a physical badge of honor, to surrender all of it to you, all of it, in a heap, in a pile, like the unfortunate book burning where they took all the books out and burned them.

We will never burn all the books. Maybe we'll burn some of the woke books. But what we are burning, God, and we are offering to you to burn for us is the remnants of why pain got established that we might be holding onto.

We surrender it. We put it in that pile to burn, the record that we no longer need to hold onto, the badge of honor, the courage that we no longer need to use.

We ask that you strengthen us, fortify us, help us to find our new position of courage, strength, stability, balance, to be strong and powerful in this world, in this moment, and for every moment going forward.

It was said about Moses at 120 years that his eyes had not grown dim, that he saw clearly he had perfect vision. It was also said about Moses that he had not lost any of his stature, his strength, and his power. Moses stayed vital, vibrant, and strong until the moment that it was time for him to pass.

And we see that for ourself. We see that potential for ourself to be strong and vibrant, to not lose our stature and not lose any part of what makes us amazing, brilliant, holy beings.

We glorify you, we praise you, we thank you.

God, I'm experiencing, and I know you're watching me. Your face is turned toward me. There are demons. There's the smell of smoke in this room. And I am asking that you send your lightning bolts down and incinerate them. And I will as well welcome and offer my incineration that no demons are allowed in this space, in this room, understanding that yes, we are incinerating what they've done.

And now, because they've decided to disturb the sanctuary and the sanctity of this anointed holy space, they are being relieved of their existence.

Thank you, God, for the sense of smell that is spiritual, that allows me to smell them, to smell changes.

Thank you, God, for that wisdom, knowledge, awareness.

Yeah, they're entirely gone.

Sixteen of them were incinerated who came to disturb the class.

Thank you, God. Thank you for that.

Well, it seems to be a day, Father, that we're getting a lot of disruption and energy that's meant to disturb this program. And I'm just glorifying and praising your holy name for the grace and the mercy that you continue to show us, you continue to give us, guide us, to show us how powerful we are and how this is really just frightening to them.

These demons who just want to stop it, the Luciferian Church, the Greek Orthodox Church, the levels of, "We have to stop this. We have to stop this. We have to stop this." And how we continue with your strength, with your mercy, with your power, to continue on to move through these clearings and to make permanent shifts and important shifts, shifts that are apparently affecting lots of people in the world because as we're shifting, everything is coming in trying to stop the shifting.

So we see this ripple effect of people healing throughout the world, of pain, the hold of pain, the hold of evil, the spell embedding is leaving, especially the pain directed towards your holy people, God.

It's time to end this.

We glorify you. We join with the holy singing, "Holy, holy, holy, Lord God most high, heaven and earth. Earth is full of your glory. Earth is full of your glory. Earth is full of your glory, Lord."

And we feel it and we recognize it and we understand it in awe and wonder. Your signs and your miracles are right here this moment with us.

We glorify and praise your holy name.

Amen. Amen. Amen.
