

Father, Son, and Holy Spirit, we glorify and praise your holy name. We are grateful for this journey. We're grateful for the restoration of the soul. God, we ask that you look upon us with your loving eyes, that your strong hand move in our intentions, and that your beautiful loving countenance and mercy be immediately flowing to each one of us as we seek to become more of who you created us and made us to be. Thank you for helping us maintain our wisdom and our knowledge, our brilliance as we restore what was turned into mist back to a form with volume, consistency, purity, and all the other aspects.

God, we pray for the election upcoming in the United States and in any other country, that there might be people of truth and purity elected to office. We pray for the civil unrest going on with the protest of the death penalty for someone who's a mass murderer and then comparing that to the protection of life in abortions. There's chaos, God, where people think that they're the same thing, that murdering a baby looks very chaotically like they should be for the death penalty for babies if you're for the death penalty for a mass murderer. God, we ask that that look ridiculous to people when they see it on social media, that they look at it and go, what the heck, an innocent child murdered versus a mass murderer experiencing the death penalty. Not the same. And God, we see a lot of ridiculous memes. I've been on social media because I posted this weekend and there's a mockery being made of the president and his choices to make sure that we have enough oil and fuel. And God, we ask that if it be thy will that the mockery end. Thank you so much for the clarity and the direct communications. And we ask that there be with the Texas Supreme Court a strong decision against Harris and the judge. And we thank you, God, for each day giving me a piece of the puzzle and helping me put things together. We ask that the perjury charge continue to be pursued and that there is a consequence for perjury. We ask that there be a consequence for the videographer who did the rage video. And we ask that, God, your hand be on the odd assignment of a noncustodial parent and the 200,000 of child support that would not go to the child but would go to a slush fund. So God, we're asking that your hand correct the evil at play. You ask whatever you ask of me, I will do. And I am willing to be of service in whatever way you ask me to be of service. And I am grateful for the interventions. And I'm also grateful for whatever the result be because I know there's a result beyond this world. And I thank you for that.

We pray for our elderly parents and pray for Arden Doring, my father who has moved into a continual care situation where he can no longer bathe himself or eat or dress himself. We ask that he be blessed and that his life not be long in this state. And also for Margaret Doring as she is adjusting to being single after 73 or 74 years of marriage. We thank you for all of our elderly parents. And we ask that there be a place for them when they pass on. We ask that their souls and their spirits and their hearts have been dedicated to you so that they might at the beautiful moment enter heaven and or wherever it is that you choose for them to be.

We pray for the children who have been aborted recently. And we ask that those children be removed from any kind of purgatory or hell as a result of the parents so that they have a chance to be recovered and restored.

We pray for the angels in heaven. We pray for their purity and their fortification and their strength.

We pray for you, God. We pray that the light and the love that you are, the mercy that you are, but also the wrath and the vengeance that you are be amplified in this world and that evil will end and that evil will be entirely and completely defeated.

And we look forward, God, to joining you in the heavenly realms. We glorify your holy name. We praise you. We are so grateful. Our hearts are open. Our souls are willing. We are ready to be of service. As long as you ask us to be in this body, doing this work, we are eager to serve you.

We join with the holies and prostrate ourself, singing holy, holy, holy, Lord God most high, heaven and earth are full of your glory. Hosanna in the highest. Hosanna, hosanna, hosanna in the highest.

We praise you in the highest heaven. We see your radiance. We see your glory on the throne of glory. And we see the divinity all around you. We see this beautiful crystal lake that you are seated upon. And we see all the thousands and thousands of angels around you. We hear the angel chorus. We are so grateful. We are so grateful to be part of your universe, God.

Alleluia and amen. Amen. Amen.
